ABSTRACT

Method and Apparatus for decontamination of automotive HVAC systems

This invention relates to the field of passenger vehicles, including light and heavy truck, heating, ventilation and air conditioning systems, particularly HVAC systems, using oxidants as means to reduce contaminants and increase passenger comfort levels in such vehicles.